

REGISTRATION.

Much Quiet Interest is Manifest in the Returns.

FIRST REGISTRATION UNDER THE NEW BRADLEY LAW.

Registration was carried out Tuesday for the first time under the new law requiring voters in all incorporated towns and cities to register. This law is known as the Bradley law, having been introduced in the legislature by Representative R. B. Bradley, of Hopkins county, and was declared constitutional last week by decision of the Court of Appeals. Before this no town in Hopkins county except Madisonville was required to register. The registration passed off quietly here and throughout the county. Considerable work was done by both parties but it was of the still hunt variety and fortunately no mud has been thrown nor personal enmity stirred. Almost the full voting strength of Earlinton was registered. The registration at Madisonville was also good. The figures are given below.

The total registration in eleven towns was 2,887, divided as follows: Republican, 1813; Democratic, 1,129; Independent, 186; Prohibitionist, 21; Populist, 11. In the total mentioned is included 77 voters registered at Barnsley where no party affiliation was indicated, hence this cannot be divided. The comparison, exclusive of Barnsley, shows a Republican plurality of 184. Divided by races the total registration is, white, 1,855; colored, 832.

Earlinton.

Registration at Earlinton Tuesday was a quiet, constant and harmonious affair, which showed the quite satisfactory total of 739 voters registered at the end of the day. CIRCUIT COURT

Continues to Grind This Week—Several Cases Postponed on Account of No Witnesses.

The failure of witnesses to appear has been the cause of several cases in circuit court being postponed at Madisonville this week and has delayed the court no little. Judge Gordon ordered the appearance bond of three negro witnesses in the case of the Commonwealth against Reinecke Coal Company forfeited on account of non appearance and threatened several others. Several cases were disposed of, however. Van Littlepage, colored, charged with shooting at Will Love, colored, with intent to kill, had his case continued until next term. The case against Tom Goodloe, Eph Nance and Jim Smith for confederating together, growing out of the union trouble several years ago, was also continued on account of the failure of witnesses to appear. Sam Short, a negro, indicted for stealing wheat from the barn of W. A. Nisbet, was given a sentence of two and one-half years. Ed Knott, colored, pleaded guilty to forging the name of Frank Ramsey to an order and securing cash from a Madisonville merchant. He was given two years in the pen. Sam Whittaker, who robbed the depot at Nebo a few weeks ago, was also sent up for two years. This week will probably complete the criminal docket.

FIGHT FOR LIFE.

Jim Williams Took Laudanum and Wandered Into Earlinton.

TWO DOCTORS WORKED ALL NIGHT AND SAVED HIS LIFE.

Labored Under Hallucination That a Mob Was After.

Two Earlinton physicians, Drs. Chatten and Johnson, had a hard fight Saturday night for the life of a stranger who drifted into town in a distressing physical and mental condition, without friends or money. The man was Jim Williams, whose home was found to be out on the Greenville road from Madisonville, on one of the Fugate farms. According to Williams' own statement he had taken an ounce of laudanum while on the way here Saturday afternoon and it took the best efforts of the doctors, throughout nearly all of Saturday night, to save his life.

Williams appeared at the side of the St. Bernard Drugstore about 2 o'clock in the afternoon, where he sat down and told his troubles to some colored men. They directed him to the doctors' office and hospital in the drug store building but he said he had no money and did not like to ask for attention free. Dr. Chatten passed by, was told of the man's distress and took him at once to the hospital, where he was quickly given treatment. After reaching the hospital he told of having taken the laudanum but the drug did not seem to take effect. He was very much worn and haggard from the fatiguing tramp he had undergone, having, it seems, wandered about the country for many hours laboring under the hallucination that he was being followed by a mob. About 6 o'clock in the afternoon Williams managed to leave the hospital without being seen. Fortunately for himself he did not wander out of town but went down Railroad street and stopped at G. T. McEuen's store, where, after telling Mr. McEuen a mob was after him, he sat down and was soon in a deep stupor. City Marshal Igleheart found him and took him back to the hospital and the rescue work began in earnest and continued throughout the night. The symptoms were those of poisoning from an overdose of laudanum. His breathing was reduced to three or four respirations a minute and artificial respiration had to be resorted to. The most heroic treatment was necessary, including the application of an electric battery, to keep breath in the body.

After the crisis was passed Williams talked of trouble in his home neighborhood and of a crowd of men who appeared at his gate and followed him for two days, saying that this mob had hung a bundle of straw in effigy of himself and had burned it. He was still possessed of this idea as he went with citizens to the liverystable where a vehicle was gotten to take him home under escort. He thought a party of Earlinton boys were after him and wanted to borrow a shotgun from John W. Twyman to defend himself. Messrs. Aaron Clark, Geo. Miller and Dan Byrum took home, leaving here about noon Sunday. The thought of the trouble his condition and experience would occasion his wife was uppermost in Williams' mind as they were leaving and he did not want to go home for this reason. Williams' wife was a daughter of Joshua Clark, of the Nebo county. Williams had no money but had a number of receipts showing he had recently been hauling spokes to the Buckeye spoke factory at Madisonville. City Marshal Igleheart remained at the hospital nearly all of Saturday night assisting the doctors.

Army and Navy Reserve, Washington.

No more important project in the national preparation for possible war has received governmental sanction than the adoption of the plan for a national marksmen's reserve submitted by Gen. Bird W. Spencer, President of the National Rifle Association. The National Board for the Promotion of Rifle Practice has worked diligently and intelligently for the encouragement of rifle practice in this country and the proposition for a reserve of marksmen promises to furnish within a few years more than 1,000,000 men in this country who will be qualified to go on the firing line, if necessary, possessing all the attributes of the trained soldier. This is a result which should meet with favor everywhere; it should have the support of Congress and the State legislatures and it should be endorsed by individuals throughout the country. It imposes no great expense upon the government, which is most benefited by the organization, and furnishes to the country, available for its military demands in a time of emergency, an expert rifle shots, made up of young men and boys over 15 years of age. The idea ought not to lack for popular approval on every hand. Its object is most commendable, as its results are bound to be most profitable.

Missing Editor in Arkansas.

Guthrie, Ky., Oct. 3.—The disappearance of Editor Dearborn, of the Guthrie Graphic, is accounted for in a letter from the publisher of the Free Press, at Stuttgart, Ark., in which it is stated that a man who gave his name as Dearborn and answered the description of the missing editor appeared there in financial straits and departed for Texas after he was aided by newspaper men.

More Bass for Loch Mary.

A consignment of 500 black bass was received Sunday on 51 from the United States Bureau of Fisheries and placed in Loch Mary by Bryan Hopper and G. M. Atkinson. These fish are different from the green bass now found in the lake and are said to be a much grainer species. They were carefully handled and placed in the moss at different points in the lake. It is hoped they will multiply rapidly and in a year or so the lake will be well stocked with this variety of bass.

Women to Vote.

Women of the West this year will figure in the presidential campaign as they never have figured before, and according to dispatches from Denver, Salt Lake City and Cheyenne, Wyo., their vote will be the heaviest ever cast.

Colorado Springs, Colo., has the purest water of any city in the United States. The supply is derived from reservoirs and lakes on the sides of Pike's Peak, which are fed by springs and melting snow. Chemical analyses of the water have repeatedly shown it to be purer than that of any other city in the country, due to the fact that the supply is derived at such an altitude as to make contamination impossible.

PAY DAY CASES.

Fines Settled by Agreement in Indictments Against Coal Companies.

AMOUNT WOULD NOT PERMIT AN APPEAL.

The cases in the Hopkins Circuit Court against the Reinecke, St. Bernard, Oak Hill and Carbondale coal companies occupied Tuesday and half of Wednesday in court and were disposed of by agreement before noon Wednesday, the attorneys for the companies agreeing to fines of $50 in each of sixteen cases. Six of these cases were against the Reinecke company with a total fine of $800. The same number and amount was agreed to for the St. Bernard company, and the remaining four cases with $200 fine was assessed against the Oak Hill and Carbondale companies, being divided between them. There were two old cases against the Crabtree Coal Mining Company, but these were stricken from the docket.

There was but one case tried against the St. Bernard company, in which the indictment was for the alleged failure to pay Joe Morgan upon two regular paydays each month, specifying a particular date of course. Mr. Morgan testified that he could not say how his account stood at the time. Col. E. G. Seebree argued the case and it was defeated. Abundant testimony was offered showing that the St. Bernard Mining Company paid their men daily, when there was any demand for money due. But the prosecution was based upon the mere technicality as to whether the companies had complied with the recent law requiring them to have two regular paydays each month, and the fines were assessed upon this point. When court began the present sessions there were four old indictments and twenty-five new indictments against the St. Bernard Company. Out of this number of new indictments nineteen were easily set aside by the attorneys for the defendant showing that they had no standing in court upon questions of fact. The old cases were also stricken off.

Only one of the indictments against the Reinecke company was tried and in this the company lost and was fined $50. It was after this that the settlement was made by agreement above. In both this case and the one tried against the St. Bernard Company the attorneys for the defendants pleaded with the jury to make the fines more than $50, if they assessed any fines at all, in order that the companies might take the cases to higher courts and contend there for what they believed to be their rights. In each of these trials the attorney for the Commonwealth plead with the jury to make the fines just $50 each. This was done and the defendant was prevented from taking any appeal. The settlement followed this verdict in the Reinecke case.

The history of these cases is that the Kentucky legislature passed a law requiring certain employers of labor to pay their employees on two regular paydays each month. The question of the constitutionality of the measure came up at once and the matter got into the courts of the State. The coal companies in Hopkins county have always handled their men with liberality and have been in the habit of advancing them money and supplies whenever there was any necessity to be met for their men, and they did not believe their men wanted or needed the two pay days the new bill called for. The validity of the law had not been established, lawyers advised that it would not stand the test of the courts and they waited to hear the decision of the Court of Appeals before they should inaugurate a laborious and expensive change in their system of accounts. When the Court of Appeals decided the law was valid the coal companies at once changed their system and began the semi-monthly pay days.

Two of Earlinton's most prominent young society men (more in the estimation of themselves than in the estimation of others) returned home from Madisonville at a late hour last Sunday night, after having called on some lady, and on returning to their homes found that their parents had retired and had barred the door against the prodigals. After a few moments consultation, debating what they should do, they suddenly remembered the tent between Victory's hotel and the hose house. Thither they wended their weary way. Being very tired, they soon fell asleep. The report a very nice time, and heartily recommend the tent to all who are in the vicinity of the hose house and the hose house.

Dragging Pains

2825 Keeley St. Canton, Ill., Oct. 2, 1902

I suffered with falling and congestion of the womb, with severe pains through the groin. I suffered terribly at the time of menstruation, had bleeding headaches and running of blood to the brain. What to try I knew not, for it seemed that I had tried all and failed, but I had never tried Wine of Cardui. I found it pleasant to take and soon knew that I was taking the right medicine. New blood seemed to course through my veins and after using eleven bottles I was a well woman.

Mrs. Bush is now in perfect health because she took Wine of Cardui for menstrual disorders, bearing down pains and bleeding headaches when all other remedies failed to bring her relief. Any sufferer may secure health by taking Wine of Cardui in her home. The first bottle convinces the patient she is on the road to health.

"Coal is crowding tobacco off the boards in our county," said G. W. Eaves, of Greenville, who was in the city last night. "In former years it was customary for us to send thousands upon thousands of pounds of tobacco strips out of Muhlenberg county every year. The hum of that industry has been settled, but the whirl of a mining community is fast succeeding it. We are opening new mines at a rapid rate, and nothing can bar the way for a great coal district in our section."—Courier-Journal.

TO RETIRE FROM THE STAGE

Joseph Jefferson, the Veteran Actor, Announces: His Retirement.

Will Round out His Life Amid Nature, Books, Painting and the Society of Family and Friends.

New York, Oct. 3.—Joseph Jefferson, after more than 20 years on the stage, during which time he has become one of the most honored and beloved members of the dramatic profession, has decided absolutely never to resume his theatrical career. Deeper regret was expressed by all who heard him make the announcement.

Mr. Jefferson arrived here from Boston, where he had spent a few days, recuperating from his recent illness at Buzzard's Bay, which caused the abandonment of his fall tour. He is contented, but still much judicious in guarding his returning strength, and will remain here three weeks, after which he will go by easy stages to Florida, stopping in Washington for a time and again in Atlanta.

It was a matter of several days' silent and trying discussion for the veteran actor before he finally decided to retire. He lives in Washington, but realized that at his age one must be careful not to overstrain a constitution, where he had rested a few days.

When the decision was ultimately reached he quietly announced it to his family.

"I shall never act again," he said, "My days upon the stage are ended."

Once the decision was made and his first feeling of solemnity had passed, Mr. Jefferson became more cheerful. "It will seem strange at first to act no more," he added, "but I shall soon get used to that, and I shall begin to enjoy what I have looked forward to for many years—my foot-hill holiday, in which I shall enjoy unimpededly, nature in outdoor life, my painting, my books and my holiday companionship with wife, children and dear friends. I begin my present at last."

Paterson, N. J., was the city where he last appeared. The performance was in the nature of an old collection, took place not far from his quaint old summer home, Hoboken, where the actor resided between seasons for 30 years.

TO REAL ESTATE INVESTORS:

Let me call your attention to the following list of Farms and Timbered lands. This, of all seasons, is the best time to select a farm, as the growing crops show what the land will do and, by the way, money invested in Hopkins County lands is sure to bring good returns. I am in a position to make easy terms on any property I have for sale. If you don't see what you want in the following list, let me know you want. I can supply you. Impossible to advertise all I have for sale.

Will raise large crops of corn, small grain, timothy, or five crops of alfalfa each year. In addition to the land, and at the same price, there are over twenty houses, barns, store, hotel and several other buildings, and all rent for cash rent when cleared, being so well located for transportation; but as to convenience and low rates this tract is worth $10 per acre; but I can sell it now for the low price of $6.50 per acre, $12,000 cash down, and the balance on time. This tract contains 5,000 acres.

The Sins of the Parent

FREQUENTLY FALL UPON THE CHILDREN

Especially terrible does it seem that children should be born into the world—as they frequently are—having in their little innocent bodies the germs of Specific Blood Poison, or, more frequently, Scrofula, which is, as a rule, the result of Specific Blood Poison in some ancestor. It would be an outlook almost too intolerable to contemplate if such scourges as scrofula and other forms of blood poisoning were incurable. Yet for long centuries these diseases have baffled the most skillful medical science.

Men and women in the past have resorted to cures for these diseases which were almost as obnoxious and dangerous as the disease itself. The taking into the system of mercury and other mineral drugs cannot be too strenuously condemned and avoided in such cases.

That a cure, absolute and sure, can be effected is evidenced by the following telling, of the result of taking

FOERG'S REMEDY

Oonnita, Va., Aug. 15th., 1903

To Whom It May Concern—
We have little two girls that were badly afflicted with Scrofula. After trying three of the best doctors we could employ they continued to get worse all the while. I was advised by a friend to try Foerg's Remedy, so I procured one bottle, and it has cured them sound and well. This was four years ago and no sign of return, so I cannot say too much for this medicine, for I think it the best blood medicine in the world.

This is a true copy of statement sent us by Mr. Courtney, and is on file in our office.

Four Men Buried Under Tons of Earth and Ore at Cartersville, Ga.

Cartersville, Ga., Oct. 4.—By the falling of earth and ore estimated at 1,000 tons weight, the lives of four men were snuffed out here Monday. Two others are seriously injured and are expected to die.

The dead:
R. P. Morgan, president and manager of the Morgan Mining Co., of Cartersville.
James Harris, Jr., white, Cartersville.
Robert Boynton, negro, Cartersville. Unknown negro.

Injured:
Wright Miller, Cartersville.
Al Buford, Cartersville.
Harris, Boynton, and the unknown negro, are still buried beneath the mass of earth. One hundred men are now working to remove the earth.

An elevated site is desirable for a poultry house.

See that the poultry house is well ventilated.

Leg weakness comes from high feeding and forced growth.

The use of tobacco as a protection against moths and other insects is well known, but a new adaptation is reported in the form of an extract, which is said to be fatal to various forms of insect life. The extract is prepared from tobacco waste, and is of about forty per cent. solidity and nine per cent. strength of nicotine. Diluted according to its proposed use, it promptly exterminates the bugs, but is absolutely harmless to plant life. The solution—from one to three per cent. being sufficient for all ordinary purposes—is sprinkled or sprayed in the usual manner, and is winning popularity. Among the insects on which experiments have been made with encouraging results are plant lice, plant wasps, earth fleas, caterpillars and beetles. The extract is also used with success for animal parasites such as sheep lice.

When any job like the one noted was done, the rule was to erase the memorandum about it, and the man who kept the slate told us that there was always a friendly rivalry between himself, his son and the hired man in the way of keeping the slate clean. The rule was to scan the slate whenever anyone came to the barn, and if he was called away and there was some work of his own to be done, instead of telling his wife "to tell the boy," a simple entry was made covering the work to be done and all went well.

Good roads are absolutely essential to the development of good agriculture, and both together are necessary to the progress of civilization in this country. Good roads are scarce, partly because the need of them is not sufficiently recognized and partly because so few know how to maintain them when they try. Good schools are scarce for precisely the same reasons. When a country schoolhouse looks like an abandoned gutting and the worst piece of road in the neighborhood leading up to it, the school is a quiet cry for help.

A farmer who has tried the experiment says: "If you will sprinkle nitrogen on your barn floor and through your corn as you gather it there will not be a rat or a mouse bother it. I have done this for several years and I have never been bothered with rats or mice. I have too much ground food is not beneficial to fowls. They have no teeth, the work of preparing the food being done by the gizzard which must be made to do duty or the birds will not thrive. Ground or soft food will answer for an occasional meal, but the proper foods are hard grains, which fowls prefer to grind for themselves through the agency of the gizzard.

Young and growing animals require a food which will make muscles rather than fat.

The greatest profit in agriculture lies in keeping every acre actively producing.

It is very desirable to put early lambs to maturity as soon as possible.

An animal must be kept in good flesh and thriving to make it grow.

Winter Wheat in the South.

The growing of winter wheat is destined to become a great industry in the South in the near future. To many this may seem a broad assertion, and while contrary to public opinion, it is, nevertheless, fully substantiated by facts. Public opinion is often molded by people who are not well qualified to judge of the true merits of the question. Such may have been the misfortune of the South when the production of wheat was the issue, for erroneous ideas concerning the yields that may be obtained, the character and quality of the varieties that can be produced and the general adaptability of the country for the growth of wheat of high milling and baking qualities have prevailed for many years.—Prof. Andrew M. Soule in Southern Farm Magazine of Baltimore for October.

EDITED BY J. H. GOUGH.

Rev. P. H. Kennedy, state missionary, preached at Mt. Zion Baptist church Sunday night.

The members and many friends gave the pastor and family of the Zion church a surprise Friday night and brought them many good things that were much appreciated by them.
We extend to them an invitation to call again the first of the month or some other time in the future. Following are the names of those who gave the presents: Mary Prentice, Sarah Ausborne, Lizzie Ausborne, Carrie Alexander, Paralee Prentice, Celia Dunlap, Rosie Boggers, Jess Pritchett, Mary Dunlap, Lucy Dunlap, Lee Saunders, Mitty Ray, Jas.
Dunlap, Albert Dunlap, Henry Ray, Wm. Hines and others. When we failed to get but will announce them later.

Simon Wadlington, father of Mrs.
Ed Holland, departed this life Oct.
3rd, 1904. He came from Indianapolis, Ind., last August with his daughter. She and her husband, did everything for his comfort through his illness. He leaves a wife and one daughter and one son, three sisters and two brothers and a host of friends to mourn his demise. Revs.
W. H. Gordon and H. Adams preached the funeral at Mt. Zion Baptist church Wednesday at 11 a.
m. Interment in Earlington cemetery.

On Sept. 22, 1904, Whitson Eaves, of Hecla, broke the record as a machine man by cutting 302 feet, with 11 rooms. This is the most that has ever been cut in one day in any mine in Kentucky. He holds the record over any machine man in the state. Price paid is three cents a foot, which makes $7.86 for the day's work for him and about $5.00 for his hostler. He stopped four times during the day. The next day he visited San Broe's circus and Saturday cut 175 feet. The machine he used in breaking the record is a Morgan and Gordon electric machine. Whitson is one of the St. Bernard's old ma-

FUNERAL OF SENATOR HOAR

Thousands Pay Last Honors to the Dead Statesman.

Exercises at the Church Were Very Simple—Will Be Buried Tuesday at Concord.

Worcester, Mass., Oct. 4.—Funeral services for United States Senator George Frisbie Hoar were held here Monday. In the presence of a large company of persons representing societies and associations, the city of Worcester, the commonwealth of Massachusetts and the congress of the United States, the favorable hymns of the dead statesman were sung, the nineteenth psalm was read, and two eulogies spoke words in eulogy of the man who had been their friend for many years.

The day was beautifully clear and cool, and residents of this city probably in greater numbers than had ever before assembled for any purpose, lined the street through which the sole procession passed. Public and private business was suspended.
Buildings were draped, and pictures of Senator Hoar were generally displayed with symbols of mourning in the windows. Members of the volunteer militia, who assisted in doing police duty, provided the only touch of formal display. The services, which were held in the little church of the Unit, where Senator Hoar, in perfect accordance with the wishes of the senator, were of a most unceremonious nature. Three hymns were sung.
Rev. Dr. Rush R. Shippey, of Brockton, formerly pastor of the Church of the Unit, spoke briefly of his personal acquaintance with Senator Hoar and Dr. Edward Everett Hale, the venerable chaplain of the United States senate, schoolmate and lifelong friend of the senator, spoke on at a great length, after having read a psalm and offered a brief prayer.

Less than an hour was taken up with the simple exercises at the church, and after those present had taken a final look at the face of the senator, the body was removed to the city hall, to lie in state where the thousands whom the church could not accommodate, might have opportunity to take final leave.

During the evening the body was removed to an undertaking where the death mask was made. On Tuesday it will be taken to Concord for interment.

HENRY C. PAYNE HAS PASSED AWAY

Death Followed a Succession of Sinking Spells, Each One More Pronounced.

VITALITY HAD BECOME IMPAIRED
BY YEARS OF ARDUOUS LABOR.

His Entire Family Was at His Bedside
When the End Came—Funeral Services to Be Held at Washington, and the Remains Taken to Wisconsin for Interment.

Washington, Oct. 5.—Henry C.
Payne, postmaster-general of the United States, who was one of the national republican committee, a stalwart of his party, with the history of which both in his home state and nationally he has been identified for many years, died at his apartments at the Arlington hotel at 6:10 o'clock Tuesday night, aged 60 years.

Mrs. Payne had been in poor health for at least two years, but his last illness covered only seven days, an attack of heart trouble last week precipitating the end at a time when, after suffering from a long illness, he had a small measure of his vitality impaired
by years of arduous labor.

Death came after nearly six hours of unconsciousness.
The last official caller to inquire as to Mr. Payne's condition was President Roosevelt, and he had gone only about ten minutes when the stricken member of his cabinet expired.
Mrs. Roosevelt was leaving her home feeling of Mr. Payne to the newspapers gathered in front of the hotel as the "sweetest, most lovable and most trusted man I ever knew."

Mrs. Roosevelt, accompanied by Capt. Cowles, also was a caller at the family apartments of the Paynes during the last afternoon.
Around Mr. Payne's bedside at the time of death was his devoted wife, Rev. Dr. Dunlap, pastor of the St. John's Episcopal church, Mal and Mrs. W. B. Comer, of Jamestown, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Jameson, of Milwaukee; Charles L. Jones and Miss Louise Jones, relatives; Postmaster Whitcomb; Miss Marie Barber, an old companion of Mrs. Payne; and Mrs. Payne, and the faithful colored messenger at the department of the postmaster-general.

When the postmaster-general had breathed his last, Dr. Magruder led Mrs. Payne out of the room. It was stated that she had stood up bravely under the heavy strain.

The last day had been one during which practically all hope had been abandoned for some hours. The approach of dissolution began during the noon hour, when the sick man lost consciousness, and no longer recognized those whom he had attempted to cheer during his illness by saying to them that he was all right.

Rev. Dr. Dunlap, of St. John's Episcopal church, read at the request of Mrs. W. B. Comer, a prayer from the "depths," and then repeated the prayers prescribed by the Episcopal church service.

The services will be held at St. John's Episcopal church, this city, next Friday morning, and at 1:15 that afternoon the body will be taken to the Pennsylvania railroad and around the private car of President A. J. Earlring, of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad, who tended the use of the car and announced his presence by the word
"Monday night," and his contents.
The remains should be here by Wednesday morning. The remains should arrive at Milwaukee Saturday evening, and services will be held there next Sunday.

Further plans for the funeral will be decided on Wednesday.

The death of the postmaster-general came as the result really of a succession of sinking spells, due to a weak heart, that enfeebled the sick man until finally the heart literally gave out.
Stricken with an attack of heart trouble last Wednesday, his condition rapidly became extremely grave. A succession of sinking spells of increasing severity and depressing effect followed, but the remarkable manner in which Mr. Payne rallied from these spells and the responses of the heart action to treatment gave him temporary encouragement.

His close relatives were summoned to Wash-ton as early as last Thursday night.
Never in recent years robust, Mr.
Payne was unable to withstand the shock of the sinking spells, and last Friday, when he had two sinking spells, it was believed that he was rapidly approaching death. We made rather doses of heart remedies sufficed at first, it became necessary by Sunday to give much more powerful stimulants, and the doses were given in greater quantities than on any previous day.

Mrs. Payne, the devoted wife, remained constantly near her husband, receiving every possible aid comforting him and hoping for the best. She bore up with remarkable fortitude, and not once did she leave her apartment, although without official invitation and in the private circles in which Mr. Payne moved, deep solicitude was manifested. President Roosevelt, whose friendship for Mr. Payne extends back a number of years, was a daily caller at the hotel, and was kept constantly advised of Mr. Payne's condition. Mrs. Roosevelt, too, was visiting in his hospitalities, and called, sometimes twice a day, offering comfort to Mrs. Payne.

The cabinet officers in Washington made anxious inquiries daily as to the condition of their stricken colleague, and many of the officials of the post office department evinced their personal sympathy. Telegrams poured in from every quarter, being especially numerous from Wisconsin, and Mr.
Payne's home city, Milwaukee. Private Secretary Whitney kept all inquirers advised of the situation up to the hour of dissolution. Mr. Whitney has remained day and night in the private office of the Payne apartments since the beginning of the serious stage of Mr. Payne's illness.

Mr. Payne, in the capacity of member of the republican national committee, had participated in six presidential campaigns, and during the last four of them was a member of the executive committee of the national committee. He was the acting chairman of the national committee during the interim between the death of Senator Hanna and the election of Secretary Sheridan. He was one of the leading figures that then devolved upon him, supplementing as they did the strain of the postal investigation, sapped his vitality and led to his final breakdown.

SHARP FIGHTING AROUND MUKDEN

The Japanese Are Said to Have Succeeded in Driving In Kuro-patkin's Outposts.

IMPORTANT DISPATCHES HAVE BEEN RECEIVED BY THE CZAR.

Field Marshal Oyama's Preparations
For Resumption of Active Operations Appear to Have Been Completed, and an Active Forward Movement Is Indicated.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 30.—From a reliable source it is learned that sharp fighting has occurred near Mukden, resulting in the Japanese driving in Gen. Kuropatkin's outposts.

Important dispatches have been received and transmitted to the emperor. They are believed to confirm the press information. The general command, however, is unable to go beyond the positive assurance that the main Russian army is still at Mukden.

NO FURTHER DELAY.

Field Marshal Oyama's Preparations
For Active Operations Completed.

Mukden, Oct. 1.—The delay in the resumption of the aggressive by Field Marshal Oyama, according to the best information, is due to the necessity of making good the losses which have been sustained and to the bringing up of stores and munitions.
But the preparations for an active forward movement of the Japanese army have been completed and a serious collision is regarded as imminent.

According to the best estimates obtained, the Japanese army confronting Gen. Kuropatkin comprises a grand total of 180 battalions. Allowing 800 men to a battalion, there are 144,000 infantry. In addition, there are 6,000 cavalry and 635 guns; the distribution of the Japanese forces is as follows:

One division at Bentanpu, two divisions at the Yantai line, four divisions on the railway a little north of Liao Yang, and to the bringing up of stores and munitions. But the preparations for an active forward movement of the Japanese
army have been completed and a serious collision is regarded as imminent.

Gen. Noda commands the Fifth and the Tenth divisions, consisting of 26 battalions of infantry and six squadrons of cavalry. Including reserves, there are 24 battalions of infantry, nine squadrons of cavalry and 24 guns, and the reserve brigades of 32 battalions of infantry and 36 guns, making the total of Kuroki's army 76 battalions of infantry and 18 squadrons of cavalry and 275 guns.

Gen. Oku's army consists of the Third, Fourth and Sixth divisions, of 36 battalions of infantry, nine squadrons of cavalry and 24 guns, one separate cavalry brigade of eight squadrons, a separate artillery brigade of 108 guns, and reserve brigades comprising 24 battalions of infantry, nine squadrons of cavalry and 24 guns, making the total strength of Oku's army 60 battalions of infantry, 26 squadrons of cavalry and 342 guns.

Average standing of school.....95

Our school opened on Monday, Sept. 5, and on account of the farmers being so busy the attendance was not so good as I had hoped for, but now I have 32 in attendance and all are interested in the school work. We have a game of ball at recess hour, of which I am the leader. I think a teacher should lead his pupils on the playground, in the schoolroom and at all times. I do not believe in driving the pupils, but going with them and being their leader in all their work.

E. B. BROWN, Teacher.

The Teacher's Record.

I believe in boys and girls, the men and women of a great tomorrow; that whatsoever the boy soweth the man shall reap. I believe in the curse of ignorance, in the efficacy of schools, in the dignity of teaching, and in the joy of serving others. I believe in wisdom as revealed in human life, as well as in the pages of a printed book; in lessons taught, not so much by precept as by example; in ability to work with the hands as well as to think with the head, in everything that makes life large and lovely. I believe in beauty in the schoolroom, in the home, in daily life and in out of doors. I believe in laughter, in love, in faith, in all ideals and distant hopes that lead us on. I believe that every hour of every day we receive a just reward of all we are and all we do. I believe in the present and its opportunities, in the future and its promises, and in the divine joy of living. Amen—Edwin O. Grover.

It is often asked why the boys and girls do not attend school longer. Many—by far too many—of them drop out at ten or twelve, and seldom that boys attend after fourteenth or fifteenth year. This should not be so and would not be the case if parents used the proper encouragement. Because a boy gets restless in the schoolroom his parents need not conclude that it is a waste of time to send him. He will do well if encouraged and kept at it. It is poor economy to put a boy at work when he ought to be in school, unless it is a necessity. Give him the best education he can get, and fit him to do something in the world. Because you succeeded with but little education is no reason that your boy should be deprived of all he can get. Conditions have all changed in the last thirty years. It requires more skill and training to rise in the world than it did when you were a boy. Your son will become a better mechanic, a better farmer as well as a better business man by having a good education. Your daughter will be a better housekeeper, a better wife and a better mother by having the advantages that the public schools of our land afford. You can afford to stint your children on fine clothes, fine houses and fancy food much better than you can afford to starve their intellects and compel them to narrow, sordid lives because their natures are not developed. You can afford to bear extra burdens for a long while in order to fit them for the burdens of life. They will thank you for it in after days.

Just a few words to the boys and girls. If you have the opportunity do not waste it. Make your school days count to the best advantage. It means work, of course it does, but you never expect to get anything of value without an equivalent. Many of the common laborers of today will tell you that they brought the trouble on themselves by idling away the golden hours of school days. The more the work the better. You need to exercise the body to keep it strong and in the best of health, and so you must exercise the brain if you would have a healthy growth. Do no go to school just to avoid heavy work, and make yourself a shirk or an idler; but go resolved to stand at the head of your class and earn the place by systematic conscientious study. Your entire future depends on the foundation you lay in youth. Appreciate the sacrifice your parents are making for your benefit and show them it is not in vain.

Gov. Taylor, of Tennessee, once said that he always felt like bowing with uncovered head in the presence of the school teacher. What a tribute to our pedagogues!

The stonecutter chisels the rock from the quarry; the teacher cuts, carves and molds in the imperishable material of mind and soul. The architect builds the chiseled stone into massive walls and erects mansions for the physical man, but teacher builds temples of knowledge and palaces of thought. None but the noble and pure in heart should be allowed to teach, because their works endure forever. Mind touches mind, either to beautify or pollute; character touches character, either to adorn or blacken; some touches soul either to bless or blur.

It is not only the province of the teacher to lead the child in the paths of knowledge, but it is also in his power to inspire honesty and to impress the principles of truth and virtue. A community blessed with good teachers is sure to be blessed with an enlightened and worthy citizenship.

Porto Rico's 4,007 public schools have opened with 60,000 pupils enrolled. The first school year during American occupation there were 800 schools with 28,000 pupils.

Teacher—Name six animals of the frigid zone.
Tommy—Four polar bears and two seals.

A torn jacket is soon mended, but hard words bruise the heart of a child.

Don't read anything that is not worth quoting.
